(2) A shareholder of the Company, in relations towards the Company and third parties, is considered a person which is registered at the Central Registry of Securities a.d. Banja Luka, Republika Srpska, in accordance with the Law regulating the securities market and acts of the Securities Commission of Republika Srpska and acts of that Registry.

Article 19

(1) Each ordinary share entitles the shareholder with the following rights:

- Right of participation in legal acts and other documents and information of the Company,
- Right of participation in the work of the Company's Shareholder Assembly,
- Voting rights at the Company's Shareholder Assembly, in such a way that one share always entitles the right to one vote,
- Right to payment of dividend after payment of dividend to all the issued privileged shares in the full amount,
- Right to participation in distribution of liquidation surplus upon liquidation of the Company and after payment of creditors and shareholders of any of the privileged shares,
- Right of preferential acquiring of shares from new emissions and convertible bonds,
- Right of disposal of all types of shares in accordance with the law,
- All other rights set out by the applicable regulations.

Article 20

Each privileged share from VI emission is a privileged cumulative-participatory share, with a registered owner, not entitling the voting rights except in the cases foreseen by the Law on Business Companies and these Articles of Association, in accordance with the Law on Business Companies and Resolution on VI emission of shares, entitling the following rights:

- Right to annual priority dividend in the amount of 3% of the nominal value of shares, which becomes due for collection of payment on 30th June every year;
- Right to payment of dividend belonging to the holders of ordinary shares, in the same amount as to the holders of ordinary shares;
- Right to accumulation of unpaid priority dividends and priority in payment of these dividends in relation to the dividends which belong to the holders of ordinary shares;
- Right to vote at a special Shareholder Assembly about issues requiring group voting of the shareholders-owners of privileged VI emission shares, as a class of shares, in accordance with the Law on Business Companies,
- Right to vote with shareholders who own ordinary shares, if:
 - o Such a privileged share is converted into an ordinary share (when they can have an equal number of votes equal to the number of votes of ordinary shares they can be converted into), and
 - o Dividends to privileged shares which were purchased and the payment of which had been requested but not paid, until their payment;
- Right to conversion into ordinary shares, at any time, on the basis of the Shareholder Assembly Resolution, to be adopted by a simple majority of the shareholders present based on a written proposal of the owners of VI emission shares or with their consent. In the case of conversion to ordinary shares, each privileged share is converted into one ordinary share of the same nominal value as the VI emission share that are being converted (ratio 1:1). All the rights of the owners of privileged shares, that occurred to the date of conversion, whether due or undue (which is, for example, the right to accumulated priority dividend that had not been paid) will also be kept after conversion;
- Right to conversion to shares of the second class of privileged shares, at any time, on the basis of the Shareholder Assembly Resolution, to be adopted by a simple majority of the shareholders present based on a written proposal of the owners of VI emission shares or with their consent. In the case of conversion to shares of the second class of privileged shares, each privileged share of VI emission is converted to one second-class privileged share of the same nominal value as VI emission share being converted (ratio 1:1). All the rights of the owners of privileged VI emission shares, that occurred until the date of conversion, whether due or undue (which is, for example, the right to accumulated priority dividend that had not been paid) will be kept after conversion;
- Right to sale of those shares to the Company, at any time, on the basis of Resolution of the Shareholder Assembly, which is brought by a simple majority of the shareholders present on the basis of a written proposal of the owners of shares from this emission or with their consent, and upon the market value of those privileged shares, or, if it does not exist, upon the value established by the Management Board in accordance with the Law on Business Companies or by an authorized evaluator elected by the Shareholder Assembly, Management Board or disagreeing shareholders in accordance with the Law on Business Companies;
- Right to priority in the payment of liquidation mass and bankruptcy mass, proportional to the nominal value of shares of this emission, with the total amount of the basic capital of the Company;
- Right to access and participation in discussion at the Shareholder Assembly;
- Right to access to documents of the Company, other documents and information in the Company's possession, in the same manner as the shareholders of ordinary shares;
- Right to preferential purchase of shares from new emissions of shares of the same class in accordance with the Resolution of the Shareholder Assembly;
- All other rights defined by the Law and general acts of the Company.

Acquiring of own shares

Article 21

- (1) The Company acquires own shares of a certain type or class in a way and under conditions set out by the law.

- (2) The Company is obliged to sell (alienate) own shares that the Company acquires up to the amount of 10% of the share capital within one year from the acquiring date, and it is also obliged to sell (alienate) shares it acquires over the amount of 10% of the share capital within 3 (three) years from the acquiring date.
- (3) If the Company does not alienate own shares in the manner and within the deadlines set out by the previous paragraph, the Company's Management Board is obliged to annul them, without a specific written decision of the Shareholder Assembly.

Emission of new shares

Article 22

- (1) Shareholder Assembly adopts a decision on emission of new shares upon proposal of the Management Board, in accordance with the law.
- (2) Subscription and payment of shares is determined by the decision on emission, in accordance with the law.

IX BUSINESS OPERATIONS OF THE COMPANY, DISTRIBUTION OF PROFIT AND COVERAGE OF LOSSES

Article 23

- (1) The Company performs business operations on the basis of business policy brought by the Management Board.
- (2) Profit is a part of income that the Company realizes in one business year, which remains after coverage of business costs and other expenditures.
- (3) Profit is determined by annual accounts that are adopted by the Company's Shareholder Assembly and on the basis of data from the business books in accordance with the applicable regulations.
- (4) A joint stock company may approve payment of dividends to their shares at an annual level in accordance with resolutions of ordinary annual Shareholder Assembly or at any time between the annual Shareholder Assemblies.

Resolution on payment of dividends of the joint stock company may be brought by the Management Board as well.

Upon adoption of the financial statement for the previous business year, the profit is distributed in the following:

- a) For coverage of losses transferred from previous years,
- b) For legal reserves,
- c) For divided in accordance with the Law on Business Companies, and
- d) For statutory reserves in accordance with Article 24, paragraph 4.

Shareholders have right on dividend, except in the case when the Shareholder Assembly brings a decision in line with the law, foundation act or Articles of Association, which determines that the profits will remain undistributed and transferred to the later period (undistributed profit) or it will be used for other purposes in line with the law.

Dividend from paragraph 4, point g) of this Article to shares of any type or class is to be paid to all the shareholders, proportional to the nominal value of shares, except in the case of partly paid shares in accordance with Article 206 of the Law on Business Companies.

Agreement or contract by which the Company gives to some shareholders special advantages in terms of the payment of dividend is null and void.

- (5) Loss that the Company states in the annual accounts is covered in accordance with the relevant accounting policies.

X COMPANY'S RESERVES

Article 24

- (1) The Company establishes mandatory reserves and capital reserves.
- (2) Each year, 5% of the profit of the current year is transferred into the mandatory reserves, decreased by the loss from the previous year, until the reserves together with the capital reserves reach the amount of at least 10% of the amount of the basic capital of the Company.
- (3) If the mandatory reserve, mentioned in paragraph 2 of this Article, is decreased below the set amount, it must be financed up to the set amount, in accordance with the law.
- (4) The Company may, in the case of generating profit in a business year, allocate 0.5% of generated profit for statutory reserves, which may be used for compensation of damages occurred in business operations and damages caused by a force majeure, decision of which is adopted by the Assembly.

XI COMPANY'S BODIES

(2) Decisions adopted at the Shareholder Assembly session are included into the Book of Decisions without delay.

(3) The Assembly decides on adoption of annual accounts and reports on business operations, as well as on distribution of annual profit upon obtained opinion of Independent Auditor and Audit Board.

Article 32

(1) The Assembly may decide only on Agenda points that are duly published and included into the Agenda in accordance with the law, and other issues may be discussed as well.

(2) A shareholder or shareholders, who have at least 10% of shares with voting rights, may propose and require at most two new items to be included in the Agenda for the Assembly.

(3) Proposal from the previous paragraph is submitted within 7 days from the date of publication of an announcement notice for an annual Assembly and within 5 days from the date of announcing notice for an extraordinary Assembly.

Article 33

(1) The Assembly may decide, in a valid manner, if there is a quorum for holding the session, that is, in the presence or representation of shareholders, including those shareholders who have decided to vote in a written form, who own more than a half of the total number of shares with voting rights.

(2) If there is a quorum at the session, decisions are adopted by a simple majority of votes of the shareholders present in person or through proxies, who have the right to vote on a certain issue, except for decision-making which legally requires a qualified majority and which represents affirmative voting of not less than 2/3 of the shareholders present in person and the shareholders who vote in writing and who have shares with right to vote on a certain issue, all in line with the law, Articles of Association and Rule Book on work of the Assembly.

(3) By a qualified majority, the Assembly decides on changes and amendments of the Articles of Association, on acquiring and disposal of high-value assets, on status changes, on transformation of an open to the closed Shareholder Company, changes of the form and termination of the Company.

(4) All other issues the Assembly decides on by a simple majority (50% plus 1 vote) of the shareholders present or represented, who own shares with voting rights on that issue, including those shareholders who vote in writing.

Article 34

(1) A shareholder cannot vote at the Assembly when it is being decided on:

- Their release from duty or decrease of obligations and obligations of persons connected to them to the Company,
- Initiation or withdrawing from a dispute against a shareholder or persons connected to them,

- Approval of dealings in which there is a conflict of interest between the shareholder and persons connected to them

(2) Restriction of voting rights for a shareholder at the Company will not be applied in the case that their election is being voted on or release from duty as a member of the Management Board or a Liquidator of the Company.

(3) Votes of the shareholders, whose right of vote is excluded, will not be taken into account when establishing a decision-making quorum.

Article 35

(1) Work of the Shareholder Assembly is presided over by Assembly President, who is elected at the beginning of the session, if the proposal is included in the agenda.

A candidate for election of an Assembly President is proposed by the Management Board or shareholders present or represented shareholders propose.

(2) Mandate of the Assembly President elected at the beginning of the Shareholder Assembly session lasts until election of the same or another person at the next Assembly session. In the case of being unable to attend or in the case of resignation of elected Assembly President, duties of the Assembly President will be performed by President or another member of the Management Board, until election of another person at the first next Assembly session.

Assembly President determines a proposal of Rule Book on Work of the Assembly, appoints Voting Commission, Minute-Taker and two Certifiers of the Minutes.

Article 36

(1) Voting at the Shareholder Assembly session is done, as a rule, publicly, and it may also be done via voting ballots, to be done when deciding on:

- Election and release from duty of the Management Board members, Independent Auditor and Liquidation Manager,
- Financial reports, reports on business operations and adoption of a system for rewarding members of the Management Board.

(2) Voting at the Shareholder Assembly in all other cases is done publically, by rising of the hand.

(3) Manner of voting is further defined by the Rule Book on Work of the Assembly.

(4) The Rule Book on Work of the Assembly also defines all other issues: preparation, convening and holding of sessions, way of work and way of exercising voting and other rights of the Company's shareholders.

Article 37
